Questions for a premature baby's care team

A printable prompt sheet for a parent or caregiver. It offers questions, not medical instructions. Your child's team should give advice specific to your baby.

Programme idea: a parent support circle for families of premature babies is only a proposal on this demonstration site. No hospital group or enrolment route has been confirmed.

Before leaving or at the next visit

□ Who should we contact if we have a question about our baby?
□ How will we know the next appointment date and location?
□ What feeding plan and medicines, if any, has the care team prescribed for our baby?
□ What changes should make us seek urgent professional help?
□ What records or supplies should we bring to follow-up?

Support and practical needs

□ Is there an existing hospital or community parent support group?
□ Can a social worker discuss transport, documents or grant questions with us?
□ Is there a written discharge plan in the language we understand?
□ Who can help us practise the care tasks shown by staff before we go home?

Our questions for the care team

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

Where to find further reading

The website's Education page links to original WHO caregiver materials and clearly labels health-worker references. Ask your care team which resources suit your baby: https://khedundigital.github.io/HGRH-departmental-websites/paediatrics/education.html

This paper is for your own use. Nothing is submitted to the website. For an urgent concern, seek local emergency care.